

Aspirant
Consulting Group

---

MORRISVILLE

BOROUGH

---

Aspirant
Consulting Group

Our Borough

Morrisville Borough, located in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, is a community rich in history and natural beauty, offering a unique blend of historical significance and modern living. Named after Robert Morris, a financier of the American Revolution, Morrisville boasts a compact area of approximately two square miles, positioned strategically at the falls of the Delaware River across from Trenton, New Jersey. This location has historically created strong ties with both Trenton and Philadelphia, marking it as a significant site in the early history of the United States. In fact, it was once considered as a potential location for the nation's capital, underscoring its historical importance.

Aspirant
Consulting Group

Our Community

Morrisville Borough is a small, economically vibrant community with a diverse population of 9,721. The area is distinguished by a significant median household income and high levels of educational attainment, with a substantial portion of residents holding at least a high school diploma or higher degrees. The borough's diversity is mirrored in its rich mix of racial and ethnic backgrounds, contributing to a unique and welcoming community atmosphere. For a comprehensive view of Morrisville's demographics, including detailed race and ethnicity data, please refer to our Census Reporter profile.

Aspirant
Consulting Group

Our History

The borough prides itself on its historical sites, including Graystones, the site of the first land purchase in Pennsylvania; Williamson Park, known for recreation and community events; Summerseat, a Georgian mansion that served as George Washington's headquarters; and the Actors' Net of Bucks County, providing cultural enrichment through theatre. These landmarks, along with the Delaware Canal State Park and Morrisville Dog Park, contribute to the town's charm and appeal, offering residents and visitors alike opportunities to explore the outdoors and engage with the community.

Aspirant
Consulting Group

Our Police Dept.

Our department is staffed by a dedicated team, including 2 corporals, 7 police officers, and 2 civilian staff, all committed to community safety and service. The operational budget for 2024 is set at over $2.1 million, a testament to our commitment to providing top-notch law enforcement services. This budget allocation ensures that we have the resources necessary to meet community needs effectively, maintain high standards of public safety, and support ongoing training and development for our team. For the latest crime statistics and further departmental information, please visit the following link: Crime Stats.

Aspirant
Consulting Group

Your Opportunity

Our department's journey towards renewal demands a leader adept in navigating change and inspiring a culture shift. This leader must possess not only an ethical backbone but also the agility and vision to transform challenges into a cohesive strategy for progress. It's about cultivating an environment where innovation, respect, and moral integrity form the pillars of our operations, ensuring that our actions today forge a legacy of excellence and principled service for the future. This is a call for a change leader who can guide our department to become a beacon of modern, ethical law enforcement.

Aspirant
Consulting Group

THANK YOU

Applications are due by May 3, 2024, by 11:59 pm. Interested candidates should prepare a cover letter and resume, which must be submitted to info@aspirantllc.com. This is your opportunity to be part of shaping a forward-looking, ethical law enforcement culture.